Equipping Grandparents: Helping Your Church Reach And Disciple The Next Generation

Synopsis

Equipping Grandparents was written by family ministry experts to encourage church leaders to think about a demographic which has been overlooked and underresourced in most churches: grandparents. Imagine the impact on churches and society if 30 million Christian grandparents had a biblical vision for their place and purpose in the family. Grandparents have incredible influence and a biblical mandate to pass on their faith to future generations. This book provides ideas and resources to help your church reach and disciple the youngest generation through grandparents. So, sit back, grab a cup of coffee and enjoy the book; then get ready to see the lives of families changed as you help grandparents pass on their faith to their children's children.

Customer Reviews

Most excellent, groundbreaking book on intentional Christian grandparenting...how we as the church missed this for generations is a mystery, but now is the time, grandparents - don't 'retire' and go play golf all day, fulfill your Biblical role and serve as that secondary spiritual influence to your grandchildren!
