Customer Reviews

Gr 2-4-Hunter will turn plenty of readers into enthusiastic sky watchers with these introductions to some of the heavens' more easily observed phenomena. Leaving the brightly colored sky and space photos and /or illustrations on every page to supply the drama-which they do, in abundance-he offers particularly clear, matter-of-fact descriptions of what stars and comets are made of, what causes both solar and lunar eclipses and auroras, and, in brief, what our ancestors thought of these wonders. Each volume closes with a doable, relevant enrichment activity and a modest handful of leads to further information. (c) Copyright 2013. Library Journal. Nick Hunter has written many non-fiction books for children. He has a degree in Modern History and specializes in writing about history and social studies.

Great for kids but got the date of the 2017 eclipse wrong - it will be 8/21 not 8/17!

When my 4-yr old grandson opened our birthday present to him (which was only books and this was one of them), he pushed away all of his other gifts and started reading the books. He had me read it to him again this past weekend. He loves it !!!!
