(Tom Daldin)

Host and co-creator of Under The Radar Michigan, Tom Daldin is an Emmy award-winning producer, actor and writer who has created programs that have aired across Michigan and around the U.S. on PBS. He has also won a number of "best actor" awards in both commercial television and industrial films. Growing up in Birmingham, Michigan, Tom has always been a fan of travel. At the age of 12 he joined the World Adventure Series Club at the Detroit Institute of Arts, where his mother would drop him off to watch travel log films. After graduation from Oakland University with a degree in journalism, Tom, his wife Cathy and their children have turned Michigan into their vacation playground, exploring its many wonders and attractions. Tom loves people and loves where he lives.

Jim Edelman's path to television producer took him from Radio Talk Show Producer to Radio Promotion Director to Radio Sales Manager to National Radio Sales (Jim loved radio). Jim's attention to detail, idea generation and the sales chops to keep the show funding flowing, help complete the circle of skills for Under the Radar Michigan. UTR fulfills a lifelong mission to combine the best of his sales skills with the creative guy that's always been lurking in the shadows. His love of storytelling and searching for off-beat, little known stories really makes his day.

Jim attended many colleges but learned more working for the Detroit Pistons, as a Ski Instructor, Cycle Racing Producer, Tomato Picker and Bakers Assistant. He lives in Salem, Michigan and insists that he's quite normal despite owning three cats.

Eric Tremonti brought his love for positive storytelling to the UTR Michigan team after fifteen years in advertising production. Joining midway through UTR's first season, Eric wears multiple hats, including director, camera operator, producer, editor and post production manager. Eric will tell you that working on UTR is the second best job he's ever had because it's given him the opportunity to spend more time on his first bestest job, that of world's greatest dad to his two young daughters. When he's not hard at work on either job, you can find Eric pursuing his passion for all things green in his garden and community farm plot. Eric is also a self-proclaimed super cooker guy and food aficionado.

We love the PBS program and now have the book to plan day trips & future weekend outings. Anyone who lives in Michigan should own one as it is a wonderful guide to discovering new places, adventures, and good food & people in the state of Michigan. Thank you PBS and keep up the good work Tom & Crew!

can't wait to go to some of the great sounding places. know what to look for when traveling through MI. and for planning some weekend trips. book arrived very quickly and in perfect condition

Josh, it is a fine book to plan a trip throughout Michigan . Lived here for most of my life and never knew some of the places existed . Recommend reading for young and old . Really enlightens the reader as to what attractions we have throughout the state

It is difficult to locate a particular city because the shows jumped around from one area to the next. As warned, you must check before visiting because some of the places are closed.

as expected

Ok

Love it

I have used this book when we are going to different places in Michigan. I watch this television program on pbs tv and enjoy his show so wanted to visit a lot of the places that he went to. So far I have not been disappointed.
