Fate, Destiny And Moon Jae-in

Synopsis

“The reason I was compelled to write this book was because another regime is coming to an end. The people of Korea are starving for hope and I trust that times of despair will not be repeated. I think it is necessary to leave the history of President Roh Moo-hyun and the Participatory Government as objective lessons by providing various testimonies. Success depends on success, and frustration must be overcome by frustration. And with those desires, I started to write.”

• Moon Jae-in, introduction of Fate, Destiny, and Moon Jae-in

For the first time, Moon Jae-in, the 19th President of Republic of Korea has written a testimony of how former President Roh Moo-hyun and the Participatory Government was seen through his eyes, as a memorial to the former president’s passing. The book is segmented into four parts, “My Encounter,” “My Life,” “My Companion,” and “My Destiny,” beginning with initial encounter with Attorney Roh Moon-hyun. They first met as attorneys specializing in labor and civil rights law, continuing not only as political partners but friends. This book records their thirty-year friendship, the behind-the-scenes events that occurred and the scandal and hardships they had to endure together. [Introduction of the book]

Moon Jae-in and former President Roh Moo-hyun have been lifelong friends for more than 30 years, it is as if their destinies ran a parallel course. To commemorating this special edition, an illustrative of Nepal Rangtang’s account of the 2016 Bhutan visitation will be featured. Rather than acknowledging Moon Jae-in as his friend, the former President Roh would always introduce himself as “Moon Jae-in’s friend, Roh Moo-hyun.” As a memorial to former President Roh’s passing, Fate, Destiny, and Moon Jae-in is a testimony of how the former President Roh Moo-hyun and the Participatory Government was seen through Moon Jae-in’s eyes. The book is segmented into four parts, “My Encounter,” “My Life,” “My Companion,” and “My Destiny,” beginning with initial encounter with Attorney Roh Moon-hyun. They first met as attorneys specializing in labor and civil rights law, continuing not only as political partners but friends. This book records their thirty-year friendship and the behind-the-scenes events that occurred. This volume includes a special edition feature of Nepal Rangtang the illustrative journal of the 2016 visitation to Bhutan. [Publisher’s Review]

Moon Jae-in’s testimony regarding the Participatory Government and President Roh Moo-hyun In memorial of the passing of President Roh Moo-hyun, Fate, Destiny, and Moon Jae-in is a book that documents the unknown history of the Participatory Government as well as chronicles 30 year accompaniment of President Roh through Moon Jae-in’s eyes that has never been documented until now. In the preface of the book, the author explains why he published the book. “The reason I was compelled to write this book was because another regime is coming to an end. The people of Korea are starving for hope and I trust that times of despair will not be repeated. If President Lee Myung-bae and his administration was the negative teacher of history, I think it is necessary to leave the history of President Roh Moo-hyun and the Participatory Government as objective lessons by providing various testimonies. For those who lived in the same era as President Roh, for those who were with him and the Participatory Government, it is their first obligation to testify regarding what they have seen and experienced. For when one does so, it can be a lesson that can be learned and recorded in history to guide the future. It is now time for people to cope with the loss of President Roh, and time to get over the Participatory Government. Success depends on success, and frustration must be overcome by frustration. And with those desires, I started to write.”

Korean people ousted the corrupt president Park by protesting peacefully but relentlessly (a.k.a. The Candlelight Revolution). The sheer force of their wills made him the 19th president of Korea, and he is the pride and glory of Korean people now. Sometimes he's referred to as the "Forest Gump of Korea". As a human right lawyer and a democracy activist himself, he defended people who suffered from dictatorship since the 70s. At every corner of Korea's spectacular history since then, his name is present along with the late President Roh, leading the people. His life and his stories inspire me to no end. If you are interested in Korean politics and history, and if you are wondering how such peaceful revolution was even possible, read this book. Because he was the one who lead the people at the front line of the revolution.

Above all, Moon is not only such a man who has proved what he is through his life and practices, but also president of South Korea whom more than 70% of Korean people like and trust. His police has a priority on poor people, struggling to undermine the old wrong political forces and systems. He considers it the most important to realize justice and well-being.

Very touching. He is one of the greatest politicians.

Odd title (I guess it is not as odd in Korean), but a great book by a great person. I really appreciate that this book is available in English now. Koreans are so fortunate to have this extraordinary man as their leader now.
