Zoologist Jim Kavanagh has made a career out of introducing novices to plants, animals, the sciences and world cultures. In addition to creating over 500 simplified nature guides, he has also authored guides to languages, cities and outdoor skills. An avid traveler and backpacker, Kavanagh's path has taken him around the world to many remote destinations including the upper , Africa, Australia, and the Arctic Circle (and this is just the As). He is also the author of a series of state-specific guides to common species and natural attractions and a children's book on evolution.

We got this as a "cabin gift" for some friends who have a place in the mountains. It's not as authoritative (or expensive) as Peterson's or Audubon, but it's just perfect to leave on the counter... Someone can just grab it up when a mystery bird is spied out the window. It's also durable enough to throw in a daypack to take on a hike.
